

Click here to learn more about PWPM!

A June Jaunt Through the Market

---

Here at the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market, our 21 stores are sliding into summer with a bustling bounty of fresh fruit and vegetables. Whether you long for local or dream about exotic specialties, the Philly Market loads the bases with mouth-watering produce that can serve as appetizers, sides, main dishes, or desserts.

Here's just a taste of what we have in store:

---

Local Fruit & Vegetables

Baby bok choy, squashes, asparagus, escarole, endive, Boston green & red leaf lettuce, beets, English peas, blueberries

---

Local Herbs

Basil, chives, cilantro, dill, mint, mint, parsley

---

Specialty Tomatoes

Organic local heirlooms, Canadian heirlooms, greenhouse mix color cherry & grape tomatoes

---

Southern Produce

Peaches, corn on the cob, watermelons, vine-ripe tomatoes, cantaloupes

---

California Produce

Plums, peaches, nectarines, grapes, figs & cherries

---

Mexican Produce

Grapes, plum tomatoes, mangoes, cactus pears & avocados

---

Imported/Specialty Items

Quenepa, lychee, rambutan, Haitian mangos, Eggplants from Holland (Japanese, graffiti, fairytale & baby)

Whatever you're craving, the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market can guarantee that your summer menu hits a grand slam!

---

Thinking of Using a Broker?

As a busy business owner, you may not have the time or resources to do your own produce purchasing. A broker may be the answer. They can shop daily, understand the fluctuating markets, and save you time, money, and hassles.

Produce brokers represent your five senses – seeing, touching, hearing, smelling, and tasting – to help you secure the best quality produce at the best price. Check out the brokers housed inside the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market here!

Learn More About Brokers!

---

---

Happy 8th Birthday, Philly Market!

On June 5, 2011, the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market opened its doors on 6700 Essington Avenue. A long, rich history of produce trading in Philadelphia culminated into opening North America's most advanced fully-enclosed, fully-refrigerated produce facility.

We proudly pave the way as a leader in cold chain management, product safety, staging, loading, security, and recycling and providing the region with fresh produce all year long.

Thanks to everyone along the way for these happy and healthy 8 years! Here's to many more...

---

Meet the Merchants!

The Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market is made up of 21 unique wholesalers. Each business has its own story and history. Every month, we'll give you a brief glimpse into two of them.

Coosemans Philadelphia – Units A7–A9

---

Coosemans Philadelphia was established in 1992. Our company was founded on the mission to provide excellent customer service to our valued clients by offering quality produce at fair prices.

We welcome you to call, email, or visit our store and talk with our knowledgeable sales people about your produce needs.

Phone 215-334-3634 | Fax 215-334-3636

Email coosemansphd@aol.com

Learn More

---

Ryeco, LLC – Units C3-C7, D5-D6, B4

---

Established in 1975 by Mike Reilly, Sr., Ryeco began selling produce on a single route in Roxboro, PA. The pillars of service, value, and quality allowed the company to flourish, and today Ryeco works out of 8 units in the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market. They also now directly import produce and have increased their fleet of trucks from three to 12. Visit their new website at www.ryecollc.com.

Phone 215-551-8883 | Fax 215-551-9036
Email ryeco@ryecollc.com | Web www.ryecollc.com

Learn More

---

 SHARE    TWEET    FORWARD TO A FRIEND

