Hope, Action, and Gratitude During These Tough Times

So much has changed in our world over the past month. With the uncertainty surrounding COVID-19, we want to take this time to thank you all for your part in keeping life-sustaining food flowing in our region. Every one along the supply chain plays a vital role in helping our nation through this unprecedented crisis.

As an essential business, we are committed to staying open to serve our community.

Now more than ever, the words of ancient Greek physician Hippocrates resonate – “let food be thy medicine and medicine be thy food.” We are proud of our long legacy of nourishing the region with wholesome produce, literally for generations.

In our role as a vital food operation in the Mid-Atlantic region, our top priority is the health and safety of everyone at the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market. Our latest update from General Manager, Mark Smith, outlines new hours as well as new procedures the Market has put into place based on the latest recommendations from the CDC. This will allow for increased sanitization of our facility.

Our gratitude goes out to growers, inspectors, packers, shippers, truck drivers, brokers, employees, and customers throughout the entire fresh food sector. We're confident that with the ingenuity of the human spirit – especially Philadelphians - we will get through this together!

A special thanks to the merchants of the PWPM. Call us if we can be of service.
