Happy Holidays from the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market

Welcome to December, the month that rings in the holiday season.

Hanukkah, Christmas, Kwanzaa, and New Year's Day all fall within a two week period of each other and offer us the opportunity to bond with family, friends, and colleagues.

No matter what and how you celebrate, December's festivities all have one thing in common – feasting on healthy, delicious food. That's where we come in.

Whether you're helping your customers make important buying decisions for their stores or restaurants, choosing holiday gifts, or cooking for a small crowd, let the merchants of the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market guide you through the ethnic, religious, and cultural symbolism of fruits and vegetables as they relate to your celebration.

Wishing everyone a peaceful, happy, and healthy holiday season!
